Message From the Desk of Festival President

It is very aptly said that the best way to empower the world is to empower the mind by developing a learning environment in the world and it's a wonderful fact that the most powerful resource in a learning environment is the collection of students' diverse imaginations, observations, opinions, hopes, and dreams.

With years of experience in the media and entertainment industry, I strongly believe that by educating students, you can certainly empower them for eternity and that is where media education plays a vital role. Enhancing the learning experience for students in creative fields like films and television can give them the power to make a difference in society and along with this, engaging students with literature is another successful approach for inducing rational thinking and sensitivity in them.

Global Literary Festival does exactly the same i.e., touches upon what is at the heart and soul of literature, 'Reading and understanding literary works'. It runs a programme of informative and entertaining events aimed at educating a wide variety of audience through the means of talks, discussions and workshops led by award-winning and eminent authors and poets. This festival is thus indispensable as it not only promotes the cultural exchange among the participants, but also trains the youth to evaluate the artistic quality of what they read and how they interpret the work of literary merit.

It's a great pleasure that the eight editions of Global Literary Festival Noida have been quite a success. Having hosted eminent speakers along with book lovers from across the country, the Global Literary Festival Noida has grown enormously & has been astonishing and immensely inspiring.

I am sure that the 2023 edition which is the ninth edition of Global Literary Festival Noida will be more inspiring, even bigger and better leaving imprints on the hearts of each and every soul.

Sandeep Marwah

Festival President
